INTRODUCTION

Our Protector Smoke for head and tail-lights, made from Aliphatic Thermoplastic Polyurethane (TPU), offers both protection and style. Designed to shield your headlights from scratches, chips, and road debris, it also provides a sleek, tinted finish that enhances their appearance with a slight darker, high-shine effect. This durable film features self-healing properties and exceptional resistance to yellowing and delamination, ensuring your headlights stay stylish and protected over time.

Protector Paint Protection Films (PPF) are manufactured in a state-of-the-art facility certified to ISO-9001:2015 standards. This facility manages virtually every aspect of PPF production, from the initial petrochemical raw material (DMT) to the final product. By doing so, we eliminate the need to rely on external manufacturers, allowing us to maintain complete control over the entire production process, from polymer creation to the packaging of the final goods. This level of control is crucial as it ensures a high level of quality and, ultimately, results in complete customer satisfaction.
